has taken a deep interest in the lissue,
The final settlement of the issue,
which has been pending so long, is regarded as a victory for the State Department, which all along insisted that American capital should share in the financing of the Sze-Chuen Railroad.
The United States government has stood up for its rights in this project, and the result of its protests against being excluded from the enterprise shows that the Chinese government realized that its claim was just.

Augurs Well for Future.
The State Department officials say
the result augurs well for the future,
as the dispatches from Peiking indicate that American capital will be placed on an equality with foreign money in the great Chinese Empire.
The officials also say it was not the mere amount of money involved in the proposed loan that was at stake. It was a matter of principle. The question is a broad one, and the settlement arrived at in Peking to-day indicates that the product of American industries will be used in the construction of the road, and that American engineers will assist in its supervision. The result is another step in the consummation of the policy of the "open door" in China.

The papers for the respite were presented to the Governor by Greenlee D. Letcher, counsel for the condemned man, and the Governor came across the line into Virginia from the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, W. Va, to sign them, in order that they might be legal. The respite has the effect of gaying the man's life until September 24.

"It ought not to take any man more than thirty minutes to win a wife.

"If the young woman's relatives object just ignore them."

The views of Hrigadior-General Thomas S. Hutchison, of Tennessee, put into practice won for him a bride, and the couple are spending their honeymoon in Chicago. They were married here Saturday. The bride, who is the daughter of the late Colonel David W. Cheatham, of Clarks-ville, Tex., announced the happy event yesterday. She is well known in New York, where she was graduated from the Gardner School for Young Women a year age.

Then General Hutchinson told of his stay in Clarksville.
"I haunted the Cheatham house," he said. "I walked around like I owned the place. Mrs. Cheatham was ada-mant, however, and would not consent to our marriage until October, Finally the mother and Louise left for Chicago. To be sure I followed, and by taking

News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

The regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held last night in Council Hall. Those present were J. R. Perdue, president; John W. Moore, R. C. Bronddus, B. A. Gill, R. L. Patram, N. B. Bailey and A. R. Hooker.

The seasion was a brief one, and no new matters of particular interest came up for consideration.

It was voted to concur in the action of the Assembly in adopting a resolution accepting the sum of $500 from the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Company, of Baitmore, in full settlement of all liability which may have been incurred through the defalcation of William M. Allen, former superintendent of cemeteries. The company named was surety for Allen, and this settlement is in the nature of a compromise.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of them Happening Every Day,
But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have often been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worse cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimpies, the completion, etc., shavers will find it a revolation, as it does for abrasions, roughiness, and severe serapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no tollet praparation could possibly do. Poslam can be had for 50 cents at any reliable druggists, particularly Tragle's, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 22 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in

CHIEF RABBI DEAD

NEW YORK, August 17.—A dispatch received in this city last night told of the death in Jerusalem of Samuel Salant, the chief rabbi of the Asimenazic Congregation in that city. Samuel Salant was born in Byelostok, Russia, on January 2, 1816. He was advised to go to a milder climate on account of lung troubles when he was quite young, and this forced him to settle in Jerusalem.

Salant was an eminent Talmudist. He won the sympathy and confidence of the outside world by his moderation toward all classes of the Jews.
